Portland, Aug. 4.—Hog growers of the state are preparing to pick this year's crop in the fore part of September.

Scarcity still rules in the wholesale fruit market, and everything brings good prices. Peaches are notably scarce this year, and have thus far been considered too high for canning by housekeepers.

Lard has advanced from 3-8 cent on first grades to 1-2 cent on second class goods. The high price of hogs ruling the past month is said to be the cause of the advance.
